MARCHING ON COLON!

Colombian Government Troops Cause Liberals to Retreat.

BIG FIGHT AT BARBACOA BRIDGE

A Decisive Battle May Take Place at Any Time—The Opinion is That it Will be Fought a Short Distance from Colon.

PORTO BELLO NOT BOMBARDED

COLON, Colombia, Nov. 27.—The Colombian General Pinzon reappeared in Colon harbor yesterday morning. Her commander said there were only 100 men, out of the original 600 troops carried by the vessel, now on board the gunboat. The others had been landed at Porto Bello, about 10 miles distant from Colon. The presumption is that the 500 men are marching overland to join the government forces under Gen. Alban, now at Mamei. The ground they have to cover is difficult and the troops will doubtless occupy a few days in reaching their destination.

The Panama railroad steamer Orizaba, from New York Nov. 19, arrived at Colon yesterday morning, having on board about 100 marines who are to relieve the time-expired men of the United States battleship Iowa, now at Panama. The marines were embarked on board a train and were taken to Panama.

A passenger train with a marine guard on board, which arrived here late yesterday afternoon, brings news to the effect that Gen. Alban, with about 300 government troops, has crossed Barbacoa bridge and is continuing his march to Colon. He is now at Tavernilla, where he is resting. The liberal forces continue to retire before him. They explain their retreat by saying they have no ammunition. All of the fighting yesterday occurred at Barbacoa bridge.

Passengers by the delayed trains assert that fully 100 conservatives were killed and wounded during the fighting there and that the liberal losses were insignificant. The liberals are now approaching Gatun station (about 5 miles from Colon) and it is believed a decicive engagement will probably be fought tonight or tomorrow morning at Monkey Hill cemetery, distance one mile from the limits of Colon.

The trains which left here yesterday afternoon for Panama with the Iowa marines and the passengers from the steamer Orizaba were delayed in transit, but reached Panama safely. Reports current here yesterday afternoon that the General Pinzon had bombarded Porto Bello have been found, upon investigation, to be unreliable and not authentic.

—A 16 year old son of John Daugherty, a well known farmer residing in Warsaw township, Jefferson county, about five miles from Reynoldsville, was the victim of a fatal hunting accident that occurred near his home on Saturday. Young Daugherty was hunting with a Winchester shot gun and in making his way through the woods the gun was discharged, the full load of shot entering his body and killing him instantly.

—More than 8,000 women are employed in the various Government offices in Washington, 2,044 of whom have entered the service after competitive examination. Nine hundred of them are paid salaries ranging from $1,000 to $1,800 a year, the others being paid the compensation of ordinary clerks—$600 to $900 a year.

—Of the women who recently took competitive examinations in Washington for positions in the Civil Service over 77 per cent passed, as against 62 per cent of the men, and yet there are those who proclaim the intellectual superiority of man over woman.

—Albert Raker, a lumberman, of Raker Station, Lycoming county, died Saturday morning from injuries received a year ago, when he was badly squeezed by logs on the mountain. Although able to be at work he had been complaining of internal pains ever since the accident.

—Do not forget the Union Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church will preach the sermon. Special music will be sung by a selected choir.

—Mrs. Phoebe Sacketts, widow of David Sacketts, one of the oldest residents of Clearfield, died Thursday afternoon, aged 82 years.

Great Educational Progress.

Over one-fifth of the population of the United States attend some public school supported by the taxes of the State or municipality, while about one-fiftieth of the population attend private schools. The school population last year, including pupils in all schools, elementry, secondary and higher, public and private, numbered 17,020,710, an increase of 282,348 over the preceding year. Those enrolled in public institutions numbered 15,433,462. The inclusion of pupils in special institutions, such as reform schools, asylums, Indian schools, etc., would increase the total by about half a million. Perhaps the most notable feature in scholastic development during the last decade has been the great increase in the number of public high schools, which have more than doubled, numbering 6,005 in 1900, as compared with 2,526 in 1890. This increase has been distributed throughout the country. It is worthy of note, however, that the increase in the number of high-school pupils has more than kept pace with the increase in buildings, and is proportionately much greater than the increase in population, there being 12,588 pupils in attendance at schools beyond the elementary stage, as compared with 8,053 in 1890.

Lookout For Him.

Several residents of Middleburg, who are of a speculative turn are on the hunt for a fake insurance agent, who sold accident policies at $3 each on the spot, and $1 per month thereafter. The policies were to carry sick and accident benefits of $10 a week. Twenty-five persons took policies as the agent did not require medical examination, and the terms of the contract were most liberal. None of the policies have been received. The man posed as the representative of New York and Philadelphia insurance companies. He is wanted by the police, of Sunbury, it is said.

—They have a night school in Williamsport which is attended by about fifty pupils.

—John Devers was killed Sunday by being struck by an air motor in a mine near Scranton.

—Fire Sunday destroyed the felt plant of Julius De Long & Co., in Allegheny, causing a loss of $60,000.

—Williamsport has a "Jack, the grabber," who is frightening girls in the vicinity of Rural avenue, High and Cemetery streets.

—Patton borough has finally adopted an ordinance forbidding the presence on the streets of the festive cow from 5 p. m. until 8 a. m.

—A rescue mission has been organized in Williamsport, its purposes being to help the poor and distressed of the Afro-American race.

—Four daughters of J. G. Miller, of Knoxville, Pa., were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home early Monday morning.

—The other evening the members of a Williamsport family were poisoned by tripe. They were very sick for a time but have all recovered.

—There are only two persons confined in the Indiana county jail, neither of them being residents of the county. The Indianians must be on their good behavior.

—Judge Weiss of the Dauphin county courts has sentenced to the House of Refuge four Harrisburg boys who were charged with truancy and disrespect to their parents.

—Vance McCormick, a society man and an all-around athlete, is spoken of as the possible Democratic candidate for Mayor of Harrisburg. Mr. McCormick is now a member of the city council,

—Some of the neighboring counties are reporting great yields of corn. Here, for instance, is James Philips, of Wayne township, Clinton county, who gathered 1,300 bushels from 9 acres.

—The court of Jefferson county had before it last week a Brookville woman charged with fortune telling. She pleaded guilty and promised to peer into the future no more, whereupon sentence was suspended.

—J. A. Streeter, well known in agricultural and political circles in Illinois, and who came into national prominence in 1888 as the Union Labor Party's candidate for president, died of diabetes on Saturday at his home at New Windsor.

—A silver handkerchief case of artistic workmanship has been completed recently for the New York Fruit Producers' Association. It is to be presented by the Association to Mrs. McKinley. On the outside is etched a likeness of the late President, while on an inner leaf are resolutions on his death passed by the Association. It cost $500, it is said.

J. O. BROWN, RECORDER

He Took Oath of Office Before Pittsburg's Council.

MAKES A NUMBER OF APPOINTMENTS

In His address He Says He Has Full Appreciation of the Duties, Obligations and Responsibilities of the Office,

HE WAS HEARTILY APPLAUDED

PITTSBURG, November 26.—Pittsburg's council chambers were handsomely decorated Monday in honor of the installation of J. O. Brown as city recorder. There were potted plants and flowers in profusion distributed throughout the chambers and the recorder's office.

The ceremony took place in common council chamber and none but members of council and newspaper reporters were admitted to the chamber doors near the rostrum. The lobby was crowded.

The members of select council having taken their seats in the common council chambers, John S Lambie stated the purpose of the meeting and a committee of five was appointed to notify the recorder, that the councils were ready to induct him into office.

J. O. Brown, the new recorder, was heartily applauded when he was presented to councils. The clerk, E. J. Martin, read the commission issued to Mr. Brown by the governor.

Mr. Brown then took the oath of office administered to him by John S. Lambie. The bond of Mr. Brown was approved. The new recorder was then introduced and made his inaugural address. Mr. Brown said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of Councils: Having been connected with the city government upwards of fourteen years, I have full and personal appreciation of the duties, obligations and responsibilities of this great office of city recorder. I accept the trust with the promise that I shall discharge all its duties with integrity and efficiency.

"My duties are great, your responsibilities are large. I am the executive; you the legislative. You exact; I execute. My responsibilities and yours are equal. We are co-opartners of a great trust. We are the servants of a great city.

"Let us stop and stay the hand of disease and death by at once building and putting in operation the filtration plant upon lines laid down by the eminent filtration commission and upon specifications understood by the taxpayer when he voted for the bond issue. These specifications shall and will be presented to you before you vote the money necessary for the plant.

"Let us be wise and liberal in providing the money necessary to purchase the ground upon which to build the great polytechnical school of Mr. Carnegie. To this school I shall willingly give my time, labor, energy and best efforts. I believed this coming industrial school will be a greater blessing to this city of industries than would be the location here of the capital of this mighty nation.

"I shall stand as recorder as I did as director for a city free from vice, stand now, as then, the foe to the thief, the thug and the gambler. This is not the time for promises; this is a day for action. You have a charter ordinance to pass and much important legislation to consider. City bridges, also, require prompt attention.

"This trust and its duties I shall discharge with honor to the governor who has committed this great trust to my keeping."

After he had concluded, Recorder Brown made the following appointments in the city government:

Clarence Burleigh, city solicitor; Dr. J. Guy McCandless, director of the department of public works; A. H. Leslie, director of the department of public safety; George W. Wilson, director of the department of charities and corrections; Robert Ostermaier, collector of delinquent taxes. The following sinking fund commission was appointed: Robert Pitcairn, George T. Oliver, Judge Robert Frazier, James M. Guffey and Charles Donnelly.

The following police magistrates were appointed: B. McKenna, J. V. McMasters, D. D. McGarvey, S. F. Kerr, John H. Armstrong, Harvey Lowry, Frank Klumpp and George W. Gosser were appointed on the board of assessors.

A. J. Pitcairn was re-appointed superintendent of the bureau of health.

Director McCandless, the new head of the department of public works, is the father-in-law of Governor William A. Stone's son.

Recorder J. O. Brown removed from office, City Assessors William Sprague, William McCandless and R. P. Douglass to make room for Messrs. Lowry, Klumpp and Gosser.

Attracting Large Crowds.

The young ladies who are carrying on the Salvation army work in our town are attracting immense audiences every night. The meetings seem to be growing more and more interesting as the work progresses. They have been in our midst only a month and in that little time twenty-eight people have been converted and have found Jesus Christ. It is a grand work, and these young people deserve much credit for their labors. They need the prayers of all christian people and not only the prayers but assistance in every way. On Sunday a farmer and his wife came ten miles to hear these ladies preach and sing, and before they left the Hall both were saved. They attract large crowds of men and women who would never think of attending religous services at a church but still they will attend these meetings. May their work go on and many people be brought into the Kingdom.

Unknown Man Buried at Patton.

An unknown man, whose appearance indicated that he was a tramp, died at the plant of the Patton Clay Manufacturing company on Wednesday morning of last week about 10 o'clock from unknown causes. His remains were interred by the overseers of the poor.

The man had no money on his person and nothing in his pockets except a Lockport, N. Y., newspaper, a blank memorandum book and a couple of religious tracts, one of which bore the suggestive title "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

He was about 47 years of age, weighed about 145 pounds, 5½ feet tall, dark complexion, short dark hair and short dark brown mustache. He wore a black cap, black sack coat, Kentucky jean pants, [illegible] shoes and two striped shirts.

The Deer and the Dears.

Meeting a live deer face to face in the public road is not an experience often met with, but it happened to two young women living in Beech Creek, Clinton county, who were walking to Eagleville Saturday afternoon. The deer came down the hill half way between these two towns on the jump and passed the women with less fear than they had for it, for they made a rush for the fence and climbed as high as they could. A bear would not have frightened them worse, although they claim that it was the audacity of the deer that unnerved them. The animal had been chased down the creek by dogs and was wounded slightly.

Death of John G. McKinney of Tyrone.

John G. McKinney, one of Tyrones' most respected citizens died at his home in that city Sunday night from a general breaking down of the system the result of a stomach trouble of many years duration. The deceased was born at Stormstown, Centre county January 20, 1840, He was a cabinet maker by trade and has lived in Tyrone since 1864. He was a veteran of the Civil War, a consistent member of the Methodist church and at the time of his death was serving his third term as a member of the Tyrone borough council. A widow and six children survive the deceased.

Building a Church by Night.

The Methodists of Newport are erecting a church building without regard for any labor laws. The congregation is small and poor, and the men are doing all the work at night. The pastor, Rev. D. E. Baldwin, assists his flock, working in his shirt sleeves with the others. They expect to complete their church with an actual outlay for only the materials used.

—A lot has been sold by the Oak Grove Town association to a Sunbury gentleman, who intends erecting a hotel in that place very soon.

—A handsome $18,000 monument, a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of Bradford county, was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies at Towanda today. Among the distinguished guests present were Governor Stone, Attorney General Elkin, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles and Julia Ward Howe.

—Eustace B. Grimes, private secretary of Hon. William F. Harrity, President of the Equitable Trust company, of Philadelphia, has resigned his position after eleven years service. Mr. Grimes was at one time a resident of Bellefonte and was employed in the office of the Collins Brothers when they operated the Bellefonte Furnace.

THEIR BODIES FOUND!

Searchers Come Across the Eight Who Went Into Baby Mine.

HAD DIED FROM THE WHITE DAMP

Some Showed That Death Was Quick While Others That the Struggle for Life Had Been a Hard and Unavailing One.

FIRE IN THE MINE STILL RAGING

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., November 25.—The dead bodies of the lost party of eight well-known young men who entered West Mine of the Pocahontas Collieries company on Friday morning last at 11 o'clock were recovered at 12.45 o'clock yesterday. At 7 o'clock Sunday morning a rescuing party, numbering 40 persons, entered at the main entrance, bratticing the mine as they went in order to improve the circulation of the air. They had reached a distance of 3,500 feet from the entrance when they encountered such quantities of white damp that it was impossible to proceed further. Retracing their steps they decided to make another attempt from the Tug river entrance, some six miles across the Flat Top mountain. They went in this entrance about 10:30 o'clock, and after going a distance of some 600 feet found the dead bodies of A. S. Hurst, chief inspector, and Frazier G. Bell, mining engineer, all huddled together. From their positions they must have met death suddenly and without pain. All of them were lying face down, with no signs of a struggle. Hurst had made a pillow of his coat on which his head rested. The bodies of the other five members of the party, Superintendent of Mines Walter O'Malley, Joseph Cardwell, superintendent of the Shamokin Coal and Coke company, R. E. St. Clair, second assistant inspector, State Mine Inspector Price and Maurice St. Clair, subinspector, were found several hundred feet back in the mine, three of the bodies lying some little distance apart. Bob St. Clair and Joseph Cardwell were lying with arms clasped around each other cold in death. The bodies of O'Malley, St. Clair and Price were discolored and bruised about the face, showing signs of a struggle, it being very plain to see they made a desperate attempt to retrace their steps to better air, but already had advanced too far into the deadly white damp to escape alive.

It is said by members of rescuing party that Hurst, Bell and Odham would hardly have lost their lives but for the fact that they lost their way, entering a chamber 150 feet to the left, or near one of the passages from the Baby mine in which the deadly white damp had accumulated in great quantities. The bodies were brought down from the mines in four wagons, bedded with straw and covered from the snow which has been coming down all day, reaching the Pocahontas wholesale grocery house, situated just in the rear of the Union station, about 5 p. m., where they will be prepared for burial. The bodies are very much swollen, and, having been attacked by mine rats, present a gruesome spectacle

The fire is still burning in the Baby mine and the mine officials seem at a loss to understand how it will be finally extinguished. The only way is believed to be by flooding. This will be an enormous undertaking as the mine is a drift mine. Mine experts claim there is great danger of explosions by flooding the mine, as when water comes in contact with the fire the generation of gas will be so great as to possibly blow away the whole side of the mountain.

Woman Asks Pension.

Shamokin, Nov. 25.—Mrs. John Mintzer applied for a pension Saturday. She enlisted with her husband in Company E. Twelfth United States regulars, in 1861 and was with her husband until mustered out of service in 1864.

When the couple joined the army the regiment was stationed at Fort Hamilton, Long Island, When the command moved to the front Mrs. Mintzer was not allowed to carry a gun, She had to stay at the fort where she nursed wounded soldiers, although she preferred to fight alongside of her husband.

Purchased Pacing Horse,

"Doc" Stewart, of Flemington, has purchased Billy Howe, the sorrel pacing horse which won first money in the 2:30 class at Bellefonte on July 4 last. The horse was bought from George Weaver, at Montoursville.

He Must Be a Soldier or Give up a Fortune.

BUFFALO, November 25.—Unless Charles Kirk, a young Chicago electrical engineer, resigns his position, which pays him $200 each month and enters the service of Uncle Sam as a private soldier, which pays $13.60 a month, he will be cut off from sharing in an estate of some $80,000, bequeathed him by his grandfather, who died a few weeks ago.

About two months ago Kirk's grandfather died; leaving an estate of $80,000, largely consisting of Chicago real estate. Ten heirs were mentioned in the will, and the instrument directed that Charles Kirk, the grandson, be given $10,000, "providing he had served previous to the reading of the will or would promise to serve, three years in the United States army." This unusual requirement was born of the fact that the grandfather fought in the War of the Rebellion and had at various times performed periods of service in the army, and thought he saw in the discipline and order there maintained the making of a young man.

Where Deer and Bear are Plenty

Ex-Congressman M. H. Kulp, who is engaged in lumbering in the Seven Mountains, was driving through a tract of his timber the other day and came upon a camp where a party of hunters had a deer and a bear hung up on a tree. Going a little farther he came to another camp where a pair of hunters had two deer, and in another camp still further on he found a party with two deer and a bear. The fourth camp he struck, however, amazed him, for in it he found the carcases of six deer strung up, all having been killed by a party of local sportsmen, who told "Farmer" Kulp that they never knew of so many deer in the woods as at present.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness." Dirt and depravity go hand in hand. This is just as true of the inside of the body as the outside. Constipation clogs the body and clouds the mind. Constipation means that corruption is breeding in the body, poisoning the blood with its foul emanations, befogging the brain with its tainted exhalations. Constipation is the beginning of more diseases than, perhaps, any other single disorder. The consequences of constipation are legion. Headache, pain in the side, shortness of breath, undue fullness after eating, coldness of the extremities, nervousness, indecision, lassitude, dizziness, sallowness, flatulence, and a score of other ailments are directly caused by constipation. Cure constipation and you cure its consequences. The quickest cure of this evil is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are small in size but wonderful in result. They cure permanently. They contain no injurious ingredients. The use of them does not beget the "pill habit." Ask your druggist for them.

Send 21 one-cent stamps, the expense of mailing only, and receive Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers. This work contains 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. For 31 stamps it can be had in substantial cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales!

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Rishel—Kreamer.

The home of Mr. William Kreamer on South Spring street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding event Wednesday evening when William Winfield Rishel was united in holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Kreamer's daughter, Mary Ethel Kreamer.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. P. Shriner D. D., pastor of the Methodist church, in the presence of about seventy-five invited guests.

The bride was attended by Miss Anna Confer as bridesmaid, and the grooms best man was Mr. Harry Sowers, of State College.

The bride was attired in white Paris muslin while the groom wore black broadcloth. Many beautiful and costly presents were received by the bride which testifies to the popularity of the young couple among a large circle of friends. After the ceremony an excellent wedding supper was served which proved highly enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Rishel will remain in Bellefonte until Friday when they will leave for Braddock where they will make their future home. Mr. Rishel is in the employ of a street car company as conductor.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggists of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Put new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by F. Potts Green Druggist.

Graham—Lawson.

Mr. Henry W. Graham of Emporium and Miss Adaline Harris Lawson, of Bellefonte were united in marriage Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at the A. M. E. church on St. Paul street. There was a large audience present many white people being in attendance, showing the high respect in which the bride and groom are held in this community. The words which united this happy couple for life were pronounced by Rev. F. J. Askew, pastor of the church. The ushers for the occasion were Messrs Lewis Mills, Fred Thompson, John Carter and Emanuel Green.

The worthy couple entered the church to the music of Mendlesohn's wedding march as played by Miss Nellie Valentine.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Graham were driven to the home of James Carter on East High street where the wedding dinner was served, later they left for Emporium where the groom who is a highly respected colored gentleman, is engaged in the barbering business.

Death of Mrs. Jennie Shafler.

Mrs. Jennie L. Shafler, wife of Ellis S. Shafler, died on Sunday at her home in Madisonburg, after a long illness, aged 43 years, 6 months and 25 days.

Deceased was a consistent member of the Lutheran church and was confirmed and admitted as a member of the church at Rebersburg on the 4th day of May, 1872. She is survived by her husband.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock last Thursday morning. Interment in Madisonburg cemetery, Rev. Harman conducting the services, assisted by Revs. Dorstler and Wetzler.

ANIMALS IN A STORM.

They Dislike the Wet Weather and Seek a Place of Safety.

Both wild and tame animals, four footed or with wings, have a deep seated aversion to wet weather. Even water fowl will seek a dry hiding place when it rains.

Did you ever watch the actions of cattle before a big storm? If so, you must have seen them grow more and more uneasy as the clouds gathered. You also saw them run up and down the field, as if seeking to escape some impending danger. Finally, when the storm breaks, they draw close together and with lowered heads present a picture of despair.

Domestic animals when it rains will always keep indoors, or, failing that, they will seek shelter by the barn or under trees or beneath the hedges and thickets—in short, in any convenient place where they may not be entirely exposed to the downpour.

It is the same with fowls. They dislike the rain, which soaks their feathers. They seek sheltered places and creep under wagons or behind boxes and boards. Chickens do not mind getting their feet wet, for they will scratch the ground soon after a shower in search of worms and beetles.

Wild birds do their best to keep out of the rain. Some of them build a roof over their nests; others choose a home under the eaves or under a projecting cliff, where they may be safe from the discomfort that the rain brings.

But most of them are without shelter provided in advance by their own forethought. These take refuge in any place that they happen to find at hand. If you watch them before the storm, you will see them looking for such a place. If the storm comes suddenly, the small and helpless ones seem bewildered, flying from tree to tree and from limb to limb, quite unable to make up their minds exactly where to hide themselves.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Sponge Fishing.

Sponges are gathered by means of a long pole with a hook attached to the lower end, with which the sponge fisherman is very expert. He lies upon his stomach in the stern of a boat looking through an ordinary water bucket with a glass bottom, which does away with the glare from the water and allows him to survey the bottom leisurely while the boatman rows or sculls the boat. A schooner lies at anchor near by, from which a half dozen or more of these small boats fish. It returns to port when it is loaded, or at night, as the case may be.

His Landscapes.

A nouveau riche recently attended a picture sale. A friend who had noticed him at the sale asked afterward, "Did you pick up anything at that picture sale, Jorkins?" and the other responded: "Oh, yes; a couple of landscapes. One of 'em was a basket of fruit and the other a storm at sea."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Philadelphia's Postmastership.

WASHINGTON, Nov 22—It is officially announced that Clayton McMichael will be appointed postmaster of Philadelphia, upon the expiration of the term of the present incumbent, Postmaster Hicks.

Yesterday, Senators Quay and Penrose and Congressman Bingham had a conference with President Roosevelt about the postmastership. The President gave notice that the successor to Mr. Hicks must be a man who would not be obnoxious to Postmaster Smith, whose paper, the Press, has withdrawn its support from Quay.

Regarded as a Heroine.

Miss Mary Frederick, of near Clearfield, the 17 year old girl who fractured the skull of Ralph Maleto, using a monkey wrench as a weapon, on Friday last, is looked upon as a heroine by all her associates. She is in no danger of being punished, even if Maleto should die, as she acted in self defense. He still lies in a precarious condition in the county hospital. When the girl refused to elope Maleto rushed at her with a revolver, but she knocked him unconscious before he could shoot. Two razors were found in the man's pockets.

Reliable and Gentle.

"A pill's a pill," says the saw. But there are pills and pills. You want a pill which is certain, thorough and gentle. Mustn't gripe. DeWitt's Little Early Risers fill the bill. Purely vegetable. Do not force but assist the bowels to act. Strengthen and invigorate. Small and easy to take. C. M. Parrish.

—The other evening fire broke out in the barber shop of the village of Ansonville, Clearfield county, and before its ravages could be stayed it had burned two adjoining dwelling houses and a third one was blown up with dynamite to save other valuable property in the track of the fire.

A HEARTY LAUGH.

The Wonderful Effects It Has Upon the Human System.

"Laugh and grow fat" is a saying as old as the hills. It has long been an accepted fact that humor is a promoter of digestion and merry words the deadliest foes of disease. Dr. J. E. Kennedy, editor of the Iowa Health Bulletin, writes an interesting article on the value of laughter, in which he shows it is not only a remedial agent, but is also a valuable preventive against a host of diseases. The physical effects of laughter are thus put down by Dr. Kennedy:

Laughter increases the blood circulation.

It enlarges the heart.

It expands the lungs.

It jiggers the diaphragm.

It promotes the dioculation of the spleen.

In other words, laughter stirs up the vital regions of the body, gives them healthful exercise and produces a mental exhilaration which acts upon the system much as a brisk walk in a crisp atmosphere does upon the appetite. As strong allies to laughter Dr. Kennedy gives the following directions for mental peace of mind:

Beware of theologians who have no sense of mirth. They are not altogether human.

Keep your chin up.

Don't take your troubles to bed with you. Hang them on a chair with your trousers or drop them in a glass of water with your teeth.

Dr. Kennedy has surely hit the nail on the head. If his prescription and advice are followed, his own bills will be decidedly cut down.—Burlington Hawkeye.

LURED BY SCENT.

Rats Caught In Numbers by an Ingenious Means.

Rats are very susceptible to the odor of certain drugs, and any ordinary trap set in their haunts is likely to be successful if dressed with these scents, the attraction of which, rat catchers affirm, they cannot resist. An example is: Powdered assafetida, eight grains; oil of rhodium, two drams; oil of aniseed, one dram; oil of lavender, one-half dram. Shake together in a bottle and use a very small quantity to dress the bait.

To catch rats, cover a common barrel with stiff, stout paper, tying the edge round the barrel. Place a board so that the rats may have easy access to the top. Sprinkle cheese parings or other food for the rats on the paper for several days until they begin to think that they have a right to their daily rations from this source. Then place in the bottom of the barrel a piece of rock about six or seven inches high, filling with water until only enough of it projects above the water for one rat to lodge upon.

Now replace the paper, first cutting a cross in the middle, and the first rat that comes on the barrel top goes through into the water and climbs on the rock. The paper comes back to its original position, and the second rat follows the first. Then begins a fight for the possession of the dry place on the stone, the noise of which attracts the others, who share the same fate.—Baltimore American.

An Embarrassing Query.

In a city where children above the age of five years have to pay full fare on the tramcars while those who are younger go free the passengers in a car saw one day a rather large boy, looking seven years old at least, held in his mother's lap as though he were a baby. The big child seemed restless about something.

Presently he cried: "Mamma! Mamma!"

The mother, as if with a premonition of something wrong, tried to hush him, but he still kept saying: "Mamma! Mamma!"

"Well, what is it?" she asked at last.

"Mamma, when do I have to say I'm only five?"

Then the passengers—some of them—laughed and the mother turned very red.—London Answers.

THE ARCHDEACONRY OF WILLIAMSPORT.

Held its Sessions in St. John's Episcopal Church Last Week.

The Archdeaconry of Williamsport convened in St. John's Episcopal church Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Choral evensong was sung by the Rev. Wm. Hilton Butts, the Rev. Geo. I. Brown, rector of the parish reading the lessons. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. C. Skottowe, from Galatians 6: 7-8. After the service the clergy were entertained informally at the rectory.

Thursday at 9 a. m. the Holy Communion was celebrated by the Bishop of the Diocese, the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, D. D., LL. D., assisted by the Archdeacon, Wm. Heakes, and the rector of the parish. The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. R. DeWitt, from I Kings 8: 18.

The business session was held in the church at 10 a. m, the Bishop in the chair. The roll was called and eighteen clergymen answered to the names.

The minutes of the spring session and the report of the treasurer were read and approved. The Revs. Winter, Stockett, Jenkins, Smielan and Radcliffe were introduced. The Rev. Brooks of Tyrone was welcomed and invited to a seat in the Archdeaconry. Missionary reports were received from the clergy and the Archdeacon. The report of the Treasurer of the Board of Missions was read. The clergy were entertained at luncheon at the Nittany Rod and Gun Club by Col. W. Fred Reynolds.

A missionary service was held at 7:30 p. m., addresses were made by the Rev. Geo. C. Foley D. D., and the Rev. Edward Henry Eckels B. D., of Williamsport, and the Bishop of the Diocese.

Erie will be the eastern terminus of the longest trolley line on earth unless plans projected fail to carry. In the course of a few months it will be possible to make a journey to Martinsville, Ind., a distance of 562 miles. The consolidation of separate systems covering the entire distance is now being arranged. The route and distances are as follows: From Erie to Toledo, 218 miles; Toledo to Marion, via Fort Wayne, 147 miles; Marion to Indianapolis, 68 miles, and from Indianapolis, to Vincennes, via Martinsville, 129 miles.

—It is authentically stated that there are now in Philadelphia more than five hundred cases of small pox, and that on account of the crowded condition of hospitals many of the cases are treated at their homes. Though this number of cases in a city of so large a population as Philadelphia, may not be especially alarming, it may be considered as having reached a somewhat dangerous stage, and the intermingling of people in the stores and shops and other places through out the city is doubtless attended with more or less risk. Until it is known that the dreadful disease is under full control and on the wane, we believe it is proper and good advice to recommend that people at least do not make unecessary visits to the metropolis of the state.

Much Reason for Thanksgiving for a Successful Year.

DAWN OF A DAY OF PROGRESS

The United States Has Made Unprecedented Strides Toward a Position of International Supremacy.

WEEKLY REPORT OF R. G. DUN & CO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Never before in the history of the United States was there such great reason for a day of national Thanksgiving. This country has made unprecedented strides toward a position of international supremacy not only in commerce, but also in finance. To a marked degree business enterprises have proved successful. An idle wheel mill or factory is the exception, while labor is so well employed at high wages that consumptive demands sustain market values of all staple commodities. Transporting facilities have been unable to keep pace with the nation's requirements many complaining on tardy deliveries, which alone act as a brake on commercial progress. By closing lake navigation, lower temperature will relieve the railway situation, thousands of cars being restored to inland traffic. This same factor of seasonable weather stimulates retail deali[illegible] and prompt collections swell bank e[illegible].

[illegible] search discloses less unfavorab[illegible] in the iron and steel situation. [illegible] factory conditions [illegible] report an [illegible] of orders.

A few large concerns appear to secure the [illegible] of new business, but heavy orders for cars will largely expand the buying, while the new combination will put this class of mills on a stronger basis. In rails there is no apparent limit to the orders placed, though some mills are unable to guarantee delivery within a year. One Pittsburg report places the year's output of structural material at 600,000 tons. After six months of more or less interruption all machine shops and kindred plants at San Francisco have fully resumed, and it is certain that the greatest force on record is now engaged in the various departments of iron and steal making. Raw material at the south has advanced, but at central points pig iron is steady, though rapidly absorbed.

Eastern footwear manufacturers are now generally insisting on small advances when new contracts are placed, but large jobbers resist the upward tendency.

Cotton relapsed into dullness, with barely steady quotations, but wool has continued active and firm in price.

Favorable weather during the closing day of corn harvesting fails to bring any reaction from the highest price level in many years, and the market was equally oblivious to Atlantic exports for the week of only 450,421 bushels, as against 3,838,666 a year ago.

Wheat holds at about 3 cents above last year's price, despite the marked difference in size of crops. Receipts for the week were 7,481,529 bushels, against 4,728,100 a year ago, while the export movement is equally gratifying, especially from ports on the Pacific. Total shipments from the United States for the week were 5,040,417 bushels, against 2,600,776 last year.

Failures for the week numbered 218 in the United States, against 238 last year, and thirty-one in Canada, against twenty-nine.

Modern Surgery Surpassed.

"While suffering from a bad case of piles I consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Haze Salve," says G. F. Carter, Atlanta, Ga. "I procured a box and was entirely cured. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a splendid cure for piles, giving relief instantly, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." Surgery is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure any case. Cuts, burns, bruises and all other wounds are also quickly cured by it. Beware of counterfeits. C. M. Parrish.

Reflector Ignites House Furniture.

The dwelling house and store room C. J. Finkle, of Spring Mills, narrowly escaped being consumed by fire Wednesday afternoon. The origin of the fire was, indeed, peculiar, and was caused by a reflector which lay on the sofa in the sitting room. The members of the family were at the time engaged in preforming outside work, and little thought the sun's rays were doing mischief within their new home, which had only been recently occupied by them. The fire was burning briskly when first discovered and smoke had filled the house. Had the family been absent the property would undoubtedly have been destroyed, and the origin of the fire would never have been solved.

The Marking of an Historical Spot.

A neat and substantial iron fence has been put around the grave of the Rev. James Martin on the Musser farm, near Penn Hall. At the same time a granite marker about three and one-half feet high, two feet broad, and one foot thick was placed at the head of the grave. On this is an inscription stating that the east Penn's Valley Presbyterian Church, the first church of any denomination in the valley, erected in 1785, stood seventy-eight feet south of the marker, that therein the Presbytery of Huntingdon was organized April 14, 1795, that the Rev. James Martin, whose grave is within the enclosure was the first settled pastor, his field of labor extending to the Junia river; and that the fence and stone are erected by the authority of the Presbytery of Huntingdon 1901. Within the enclosure the grave is covered by the original slab inscribed, "Here lies the body of the Rev. James Martin, Pastor of the first Presbyterian Congregation in Penn's Valley, who died June 20th, 1795 aged about sixty-five years.

Deep was the wound, O Death, and vastly wide,
When he resigned his useful breath and died,
Ye sacred tribes with pious sorrow mourn,
And drop a tear at our dear Pastor's urn.

Concealed a moment from our longing eyes,
Beneath this stone his mortal body lies.
Happy, the spirit lives; and will, we trust,
In bliss associate with his pious dust.

The Rev. James Martin was a Presbyterian minister, but it is a matter of interest to the many pastors and their congregations of all denominations now occupying the country from Penn's and Brush Valley Narrows up to Tyrone and Spruce Creek, to know that about one hundred and twenty years ago he [illegible] this territory for his parish, and [illegible] rejoice that his grave has [illegible] rescued from [illegible] threatened it. [illegible] of the memorial [illegible] H. Schuyler, Judge James A. [illegible], and C. F. Long. The work was well done by J. B. Mayes and Son, of Lemont. Formal dedicatory services will probably be held later when the weather is more suitable for out door meetings.

The Children's Friend.

You will have a cold this winter. Maybe you have one now. Your children will suffer too. For coughs, croup, bronchitis, grip and other winter complaints One Minute Cough Cure never fails. Acts promptly. It is very pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. C. B. George, Winchester, Ky., writes "Our little girl was attacked with croup late one night and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup." C. M. Parrish.

Change of Schedule on Pennsylvania Railroad.

On Sunday, November 24th, 1901, a change of schedule on the Pennsylvania R. R. took place. The most important changes on Bald Eagle Valley R. R are as follows:

Train No. 52 will leave Tyrone at 12:25 p. m., arriving at Lock Haven at 2:10, connecting east and west with Buffalo-Washington and Philadelphia expresses.

Train No. 90 will leave Milesburg at 1:24 and arrive at Bellefonte at 1:35 p. m., instead of 1:25. Passengers for points east of Milesburg will take train 2nd No. 53, which will follow 1st No. 53 (1:05 train) and change at Milesburg instead of taking the regular west bound train as heretofore. 2nd No. 53 will leave at 1:05 p. m.

Evening express will leave Tyrone at 7:00 p. m., Bellefonte at 8:16, arriving at Lock Haven at 9.15 p. m.

No changes on the Snow Shoe or Lewisburg Branches.

Corrected time table will appear in this paper next week.

Not Tuberculosis Nor Hog Cholera.

A. D. Schrieber, the Philadelphia veterinarian representative of the state board, and Capt. W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, made a tour of investigation through parts of the county on Tuesday and Wednesday.

They first visited the vicinity of Spring Mills, where a large herd of dairy cows were supposed to be affected with tuberculosis. The tests were applied but not a trace of the disease was discovered.

The next place they visited was that portion of Harris township in which hog cholera is said to be raging. On the farms of Jacob Meyer, Jacob Lee, the old Spangler place, and the Zeigler farm near Linden Hall sick hogs were found, but their trouble is of a catarrhal nature and not cholera, so the veterinarians report. —Democratic Watchman.

A Snow Shoe Bear Story.

The latest bear story comes from Snow Shoe and has been verified from reliable source. Here it is: Thomas, Joseph and Roland McCartney of the mountain city were hunting in the woods in that vicinity last week when they apprehended bruin and gave the animal chase. Mr. Bruin sought safety in a cave and the hunters built a fire nearby and concluded to remain on the ground until the bear came out. On the morning of the second day bruin ventured forth and a hard fight ensued which resulted in the bear's death. When taken home he was found to weigh 500 pounds.

"Judge Love is the recognized leader of the Quay forces in Centre county."—John Hamilton to the Republican county convention, July 30, 1901.

No doubt Ex-Congressman Arnold wants to return to Congress but the people of his district do not want him to and there the rub, hence Arnold wont return.

HIS HONOR JUDGE LOVE, the machine leader in Centre county, has placed several fourth-class post office appointments in Centre county to his credit (?) during the past few weeks.

AT the next meeting of the State Bar association Major A. M. Brown, late of the Recorder's office, Pittsburg, Pa., will deliver an address on "The Relation of the Ax to Municipal Government," so says the Pittsburg Times.

READING Governor Stone's address to the people of Pittsburg, accompanying his executive decree deposing Recorder A. M. Brown, one would think that his action was inspired by the lofty sentiment conveyed in the old saw "The noblest motive is the public good."

"THE Former Centre County Boy," who writes political essays from Philadelphia to the State College Times, should take as a subject for his next effort, Why John Hamilton fail to line up College borough (which he boasts he carries in his vest pocket) for Potter and Harris at the recent election.

RECENT events justify the statement that the Superior Court commission Judge Love hopes to receive for services rendered is to be held out as a reward for services to be rendered. The Judge's political environments in his home county are not such to give his chances for the honor a place in the first rank of favorites for the Superior judiciary.

THE Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, the leading machine organ in Western Pennsylvania, speaking of Governor Stone and his betrayal of the Pittsburg "stalwarts," says the historian of the future will blush as he writes the story of his administration and yet there are several loyal Quayites in Bellefonte who loudly exclaim that Stone, in whose favor they bask at so-much per annum, is the best governor Pennsylvania ever had.

MAJOR A. M. BROWN, whom Governor Stone ripped in and ripped out as Recorder of Pittsburg, is no doubt an exemplary man and above reproach. Just the same he asks people to believe a good deal when he says his appointment of municipal officers under his ripper commission was for the best interests of the city and not influenced by political emergencies or requirements. Such a statement applied to the appointment of such creatures as W. W. Nesbit and John P. McTighe is beyond the beyond. Their appointments by the recent Recorder were in the nature of a reward for their treachery in the last legislature and it is no credit to Major Brown to seek to hide this fact by a statement to the contrary.

DON'T KNOW CENTRE COUNTY QUAYITES.

"The followers of Mr. Quay are not afraid to let go of an official job when such a performance means loyalty to their chief. It is such devotion that has enabled Quay to win in Pennsylvania, and it is a faithfulness which cannot be secured by hypocrisy or sneaking political methods." thus comments editorially the Washington Post, a strong Quay admirer, on the Pennsylvania political situation growing out of the Pittsburg situation. In event of a rupture between Quay and Stone it would be interesting to note the loyalty of John Hamilton, not to speak of smaller fry in the Centre county machine fold who enjoy the emoluments of office by the grace of Quay. Would he and the "small fry" resign their State billets and stand by the colors of their patron saint of Pennsylvania Republicanism? If their past record on loyalty and gratitude can be taken as a criterion for their future course we make bold to say that Hamilton and the aforesaid "small fry" would see Quay d——d before throwing to the winds a fat job in order to espouse his cause. The editor of the Post does not know that a representative class of Centre county Quayites are followers of the Old Man for revenue only, and that loyalty, gratitude, principle, every virtue that honest men hold dear, they willingly sacrifice for personal profit, or he would have excepted his sweeping commendation of the Pennsylvania followers of Quay.

FUNNY DISCREPANCIES.

The cost of advertising the constitutional amendments for this year will be about $30,000. There are some funny discrepancies in rates, but each bill is sworn to, and of course the only thing left for the State authorities to do will be to pay. Payment of the bills will not commence before December 1st. Two years ago the Keystone Gazette advertised the amendments for which was charged $145.60. This year the same advertisement was given to the State College Times and Hamilton, the State Secretary of Agriculture and the editor and part owner of the Times, charges the State $290.00. This is doubtless one of the "funny discrepancies" referred to. Very funny, isn't it? It is a joke for which the State will pay $144.40 above the amount paid the Gazette for the same service. Evidently Mr. Hamilton's experience with the oleo trust has been of great value to him. He knows how to do the trick. He should take the occasion today to give thanks for the opportunities that are his to lay up treasures on earth.

THE MAN FOR THE PLACE.

The Raftsman's Journal, of Clearfield, in its issue of last week, presents the name of Alexander E. Patton, Esq., of Clearfield county, as the most available candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 27th district, comprising, under the recent congressional re-appointment, the counties of Centre, Clearfield, Cameron and McKean. The Journal, in its support of Mr. Patton's qualifications for congressional service and his merit for its attendant honors, pays a splendid and deserved tribute to his high character; his loyalty as a Republican and his superior ability as a man of affairs.

It is perhaps a little early to inaugurate our congressional campaign, since the election is almost a year distant, yet it is nevertheless appropriate to submit to the public for their thought and consideration the names of men, who possessing all the requisite attributes in character, intellectual, political and moral, would be in every sense a representative worthy of the district and loyal and steadfast to the interests of its constituents. Such a man is Alexander E. Patton and the Raftsman's Journal is to be congratulated upon its apparent concern in the matter of securing a representative citizen of unsullied reputation and unquestioned ability as the Republican candidate for Congress from the 27th district.

If Mr. Patton goes before the congressional conference as Clearfield's choice, we have no hesitancy in saying that the other counties in the district would make no mistake in yielding their claims to Clearfield's candidate. If ever the Republican party in Pennsylvania needed men of Mr. Patton's type to inspire confidence in public officials and a respect for their official deportment, that time is now. Let Alexander E. Patton mark the standard to which the Republican candidate for congress from the 27th district must size up and then we will have a candidate worthy of every honest man's support, whatever his political faith. If not Alexander E. Patton, his peer in character, fitness and merit must be the Republican congressional nominee.

HE PROTESTS TOO MUCH.

In the postscript to his famous address to the people of Pittsburg explaining his action in removing Recorder A. M. Brown, Governor Stone takes occasion to deny, in advance of an accusation, that he had demanded $200,000, and had accepted $150,000, for his signature to certain legislative enactments of the recent General Assembly. It is natural that the Governor should deny such a serious charge, if made. It will be recalled, however, that he promptly denied the charge that he and Justice Potter held private telephone communications respecting the action of the Supreme Court when the Pittsburg "ripper" bill was before that tribunal upon the question of its constitutionality, yet, subsequent developments proved conclusively that the Governor was afflicted with a lapse of memory—charitably speaking-at the time he contradicted the disclosure. His Excellency has been playing fast and loose with Truth and the people are "onto" him. His best course is to preserve that golden silence and allow fate to wrestle with his faults and their consequences. Truly, his reputation for truth and veracity has suffered by the deeds of his mouth.

POCKETS IN SHROUDS.

The last Legislature of Pennsylvania did many remarkable things, but its most notable achievement was the construction of a new statue proclaiming an absolutely new principle of law, viz: That the dead may inherit from the dead. Heretofore the dead could retain control of property only by dictating to the living as to its disposition, but it is now lawful in Pennsylvania for the defunct to take their earthly possessions along and lay up treasures in the next world. Pockets in shrouds should be the correct thing.—North American.

A Quay organ states, apropos of Governor Stone's Pittsburg deal with Bill Flinn: "The Governor of Pennsylvania does not seem to realized that the world detests an imigrate." How justly does this reminder apply to a coterie of machine sycophants in Centre county who were recipients of Governor Hastings generous favor and are now his most persistent and malicious vilifiers and detractors.

John P. Elkin, the attorney general for the State will not resign from Stone's cabinet. He has not the decency to do so. He prefers to be kicked out, and if Stone does not follow Governor Hastings example and boost him it is because Elkin was a party to Recorder Brown's decapitation and Stone knows it.

MINNESOTA has put in operation a law which sends to the penitentiary "lazy shiftless worthless husbands". All that now remains to establish justice is for some champion of the rights of men to provide for the punishment of lazy, shiftless, worthless wives.

That "gold brick" Senator Flinn was supposed to have purchased turns out to be the real stuff.

Pittsburg has for the time displaced Philadelphia in the public eye.

THE JUGGLERY IN JUDGESHIP.

It is pretty well known that for some months Governor Stone has had in his hands the resignation of Judge John I. Mitchell, of the Superior Court, who has not been in condition to serve on the bench since his election, two years ago. If the resignation had been promptly accepted the people could have chosen a judge at the recent election. Governor Stone has preferred to with-hold it for the apparent purpose of using this high judicial position for personal purposes.

Major A. M. Brown, just deposed from the Recordership of Pittsburg, unreservedly declares that the Governor attempted to use this place on the bench as a bribe to induce him to relinquish the Recordership, which the Governor wanted to bestow upon one of Senator Flinn's men in pursuance of a political deal. This had been previously stated in the news reports of the situation in Pittsburg, some people doubting it at that time. The frank and undisputed assertion of Major Brown, to whom the offer was made, leaves no doubt of the truth of it, and Major Brown does not too plainly characterize it when he says it was an attempt to bribe him. It is to his everlasting credit that he refused the bribe, though the Governor did not long hesitate to remove him.

This followed pretty closely on the heels of what had been the intention of the Governor to appoint Judge Love, of Centre County, to the vacancy, which can be made any moment it is seen fit to accept the resignation of Judge Mitchell, which has long been in the Governor's hands. Judge Love was ambitious to go up the step to the Superior Court even before he made the notorious decision in the school appropriation case that the executive had the right to change an appropriation made by the Legislature and veto a part of an item. Governor Stone and Attorney General Elkin were very grateful for that opinion, and it was concluded to name Judge Love as a Superior Court judge.

It is something more than rumor that when an intimation of this was conveyed to the members of that court there was such want of enthusiasm as to attract attention. It would not be fair to say that the grave and sober judges took formal steps to avert the threatened calamity, but the feeling soon began to be understood by the Governor. Two or three of the more powerful party leaders came handily forward at this moment and expressed their surprise that the Governor and the Attorney General should want to throw away so important an office at a time when it should be made use of to get delegates to the State convention and members of the Legislature, and it was well known that Judge Love couldn't get either in his county. Judge Love was thereupon thrown upon the scrap heap;

So, with this episode and the failure to entice Recorder Brown out of his office there is still a place on the Superior Court bench available for political trading. It ought to have been filled many months ago, since only five of the seven judges of that court are really on duty, and it is not a satisfactory condition of things to litigants. These facts do not weigh, however, against the necessity of holding the place open for a political deal. —Philadelphia Press.

Interesting Sight in the Heavens.

An interesting astronomical phenomenon may be seen in the southwestern heavens every evening from 5 to 7 o'clock. The planets Venus, Jupiter and Saturn are grouped in a position which astronomers say occurs only once in 300 years. The phenomenon is now at its zenith and is being watched by the astronomers throughout the country.

—A dispatch from Beech Creek to the Lock Haven Democrat tells of an exciting ride which several men had on Saturday, when a couple of trucks on which they were riding from the mines of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick company to the foot of the branch road, ran away with them. They all jumped and not one was seriously hurt.

—The employes at the Susquehanna boom at Williamsport have completed their work for the season. Over 120,000,000 feet of logs were handled. They are not all safe in the ponds, but are lying in the open river in large numbers and a flood or freeze would result in loss to the lumbermen.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27, 1901.

The past week in Washington has witnessed the assemblage and the adjournment of the Reciprocity Convention. The Convention passed a resolution urging upon Congress the maintenance of the principal of protection and the opening up of foreign markets by reciprocity, "only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce or farming." Other resolutions urge the establishment of a "Department of Commerce and Industry, the head of which shall be a member of the President's Cabinet;" and the appointment of a "reciprocity commission" as a bureau of that department.

There is wide diversity of opinion as to the results and affects of the convention but a careful canvass among some of the leading republican statesmen warrants the assertion that they consider it, demonstrated the fact that, while reciprocity is the next logical step of the government, the time is not yet ripe for it; but that the business men of this county are essentially practical and little given "to chasing theories" and that as soon as a shrinkage of exports renders reciprocity advisable they will be ready to endorse it.

From the West comes continued reports of a demand for immediate reciprocity and some revision of the Dingley bill, Governor-elect Commings, of Iowa, being the latest caller at the White House to urge caution in the "let well enough alone" policy. Some few even go so far as to say that in the death of William McKinley tariff reform lost one of the best friends it ever had, but even in the West the sentiment is divided and unless strong pressure is brought to bear in favor of free sugar from Cuba, there is little liklihood of any changes.

The President's chief counsellors have advised him that he will satisfy the people if he can prevail upon Congress to perfect the anti-trust law and to establish the department of Commerce and Industry and it is the belief that this action will be accepted as an evidence of good faith and, that before the convening of another Congress, the situation will have further developed to a point where "the plain duty" of Congress may be made clear.

I found a widely prevalent conviction among the delegates to the reciprocity convention that the business interests of the country demanded some radical changes in the financial laws and that Secretary Gage was right in his proposition that "The present is the most propitious hour in all our history and as favorable as any period we may hope for in the future."

Speaking on this subject a leading member of the New York Chamber of Commerce, who requested that his name be with-held, said "There could be no better evidence of the necessity of a change than is afforded by the existing conditions. The Treasury is overflowing with a surplus of nearly one hundred and seventy-five millions, none of which is drawing a cent of interest. Of course entire co-operation of the Congressional Committee on Appropriations with the Secretary of the Treasury and a careful balancing of internal revenue with current expenses will obviate the continued accumulation of this immense non-interest bearing fund, but the most serious features of the situation is that we are now buying bonds at 140 that we sold at 104½ and notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Gage is purchasing bonds with a view to maintaining an 'easy' money market gold is being shipped abroad at the rate of $12,000,00 per week."

"Moreover these very bonds that are now being bought up were sold to induce the bankers to increase the circulating medium by means increased issues of banknotes and now the banks are selling these bonds and retiring their circulation because the government's action has 'bulled' the market to an extent which makes this course more profitable than maintaining the circulation. The Treasury is getting the short end of the deal, the banks the profits and Europe is drawing away the gold."

"To the McKinley administration accrued the glory of vanquishing the free-silver fallacy. If, to the Roosevelt administration may be recorded the credit of remedying the remaining defects in our financial system the gratitude of the business men of America will know no bound and the republican party will have demonstrated its right to administer the affairs of the country for a long time."

At the Cabinet meeting on Friday the President read the remainder of his message. Immediately following the meeting he directed that some minor changes be made and then announced that he considered the document completed. He entertained at luncheon Archbishop Corrigan of New York and early in the afternoon embarked at the Navy Yard on the yacht Sylph and quietly sailed away. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and the children, with the exception of his eldest daughter, who is visiting in Boston. As no one would furnish any information as to the destination of the party speculation is of course rife. It has been suggested that possibly he intends to go to Philadelphia by water, as he has promised to witness the Thanksgiving football game which will be played there between Annapolis and West Point, but it is more probable that he has gone down the river duck shooting.

Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock made public his annual report. Referring to the public lands he states that 15,562,798,30 acres have been disposed of in the last year. The total public lands aggregate 1,809,339,840, acres. He deplores the deforestation of these lands and calls attention to provisions of law which mades it impossible for him to protect the forests, and finally recommends that the care of the forest reserves be transferred to the Agricultural Department.

NOVEMBER TERM OF COURT.

The grand jury ignored the bill of indictment in the case of Commonwealth vs J. S. Herman who was indicted for assault, etc., by John Erb and the costs of prosecution placed upon Mr. Erb.

A nol pros was filed and the costs paid in the case of Commonwealth vs Orie Showers who was indicted by Frank Irwin on the charge of carrying concealed and deadly weapons.

Jacob Swires who was indicted for violating the pure food laws, and in which Jas. Faust was the prosecutor, paid the costs of prosecution and also a fine of fifty dollars.

The case of Commonwealth versus Jacob Lutz, one of the Overseers of the Poor of Benner Township, who was indicted for assault and battery upon the person of Susan Gingerick was called Tuesday forenoon and the jury after being out for twenty minutes returned a verdict of not guilty and placed the costs upon the County. It appeared from the evidence upon the trial of the case that Mrs. Gingerick was a charge upon the Poor District of Benner Township and that she was in the custody of the defendant in this case; that some of her household goods, etc., were in the possession of the Overseer and when she went for them he would not deliver them to her. She alleged that the defendant used violent means in putting her out of his house, and that he threw her off the porch injuring her severely. The defendant testified that he did not treat her cruelly, and used no more force than was necessary.

Calvin Stiles, of Philipsburg, who was indicted for aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, and with larceny from the person of Jeremiah Roan, changed his plea from not guilty, to that of "guilty" after the evidence on the part of the Commonwealth was all in. From the evidence in the case, this defendant on or about the 4th of October last was in company with the prosecutor, Mr. Roan and a Mr. George and were indulging very freely with intoxicants. Later in the evening Stiles and Roan were seen going down the Penna., R. R., toward Clearfield and at about 6 o'clock the chief of police of Philipsburg was informed that some one had assaulted Mr. Roan and that he was lying on the R. R. track. He at once went to the place and found that Mr. Roan was bruised up considerable and stated that Stiles was the guilty party; that he was robbed of his money, amounting to about sixteen dollars or more. The policeman then went in search of Stiles and found him in the Barnes House, and at once took him in custody. The next morning Mr. Roan identified Stiles as being the man who assaulted him and took from his money. Most of the money had been recovered by the policeman when he made a search of the defendant. The Court has not as yet sentenced this defendant.

Harry Miller, colored, who was indicted for malicious mischief was acquitted. The evidence was to the effect that some time about the first of August some one had turned the switch on the C, R. R., below the depot, and that when the night train came up it was partly wrecked. Some time afterwards, about two weeks, it seems that County Detective Rightenour took young Miller to Superintendent Gephart's office where he (Miller) stated that he had turned the switch half way and could not get it back into place. He also stated the same facts to Mr. Walsh and to 'Squire Ketchline. The defense was to the affect that Mr. Rightenour told Miller that if he would go and tell Mr. Gephart that he did it he would very likely drop the matter, and upon this advice of the County Detective he alleges that he confessed to a crime that he was not guilty of.

The first case called on the civil list was that of a Hanscom vs. Jacob Quiggle, which was an appeal from the judgment rendered by a justice of the peace. The defendant nor his counsel appeared and a verdict was taken in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $54.68.

A voluntary non suit was entered in the case of W. H. Garbrick vs. A. J. Garbrick. This was also an appeal from the judgment rendered by a justice of the peace.

In the case of John G. Dubbs vs. John Herman, being an appeal, the jury rendered a verdict in the sum of $17.11 in favor of the plaintiff. The facts were about as follows: Herman bought from Dubbs three thousand pounds of phosphate which was worth $30.00, and at the time stated to Mr. Dubbs that he was living on the farm of Adam Wagner and that their agreement was to the effect that each was to pay one-half. Mr. Dubbs sold the phosphate and charged the entire amount to Herman. Some time after it was delivered the defendant paid his half and always refused to pay the balance, for the reason that Adam Wagner was liable for it. Wagner refused to pay for it, after which Herman executed a note to Dubbs for the balance which was fifteen dollars. He refused payment on the note when it became due and suit was then entered on the same and a verdict for the plaintiff resulted.

The report of S. Kline Woodring, Esq., Auditor in the Geo. W. Hoover estate was confirmed by the Court.

The case of D. Z. Frain vs. Central R. R. Co., of Pa., was called Wednesday forenoon. This is an appeal from a judgment rendered by a Justice of the Peace, and from which the defendant company appeals. It appears from the evidence that the plaintiff had contracted to make and deliver to the R. R. Co., a certain number of ties, for which he was to receive at the rate of 40 cents for number one and 25 cents for number two's. The plaintiff testifies that he delivered them according to contract, the defendant company testified that sixteen of the ties were of a facing less than was called for in contract and they were therefore rejected. There is a difference of about $1300 between the parties. Plaintiff refused a tender by defendant company in open court this morning.

The jury has not as yet returned a verdict on the case.

There are only two cases open for trial on this week's list.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY.

To the Honorable the Judges of Quarter Sessions of the Peace in and for the County of Centre Nov. Sessions, 1901.

The grand inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring for the County of Centre, in all matters relating to the same, do respectfully report: That they have acted upon nineteen bills of indictment of which sixteen were found true bills, and three ignored.

We beg leave to further report: That we have visited and inspected the County buildings and find them in good condition.

We further report that the petition to appropriate $5,000 towards the erection of the Soldiers and Sailors monument was considered and approved.

And further we respectfully recommend that if feasible, the room now occupied by the District Attorney be converted into a ladies waiting room.

We respectfully tender our thanks to the Honorable Judge and District Attorney for their courtesy and assistance rendered us during our deliberations.

S. B. Row,
Nov. 27th, 1901. Foreman.

Sister of The Late David M. and Jerry Butts of Bellefonte.

Mrs. Susan Butts Isett died Saturday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock at her home in Altoona. She has been ailing for the past two years and was confined to her bed since last Monday. She was born October 14, 1836, in Tuckahoe valley, and was therefore aged 65 years, 1 month and 6 days at the time of her death. She was married to George D. Isett February 3, 1859, at Waterstreet, Huntingdon county, and resided at Mt. Etna until the spring of 1891, since which time she had resided in Altoona.

Deceased is the last representative of her family, four brothers and two sisters having preceded her to the grave.

—The Bank of Liverpool (Eng.) was robbed by a trusted bookkeeper of $850,000.

Death of Mrs. Frederick Bottorf.

Mrs. Mary Bottorf, wife of Frederick Bottorf, of Pine Grove Mills, died at her home in that place Wednesday morning from pneumonia, aged 60 years and 20 days. The deceased was one of the highly respected and beloved women in the section of the county in which she lived and died. As a sincere and earnest, christian and a member of the Lutheran church her life was dedicated to religious work and deeds of charity. A loving wife, a devoted mother a stauch and true friend she is mourned by a large community who keenly feel her departure. She is survived by a husband and two daughters Mrs. Howard Goss, of the Branch and Mrs. Andrew Tate, of Pine Grove Mills, and the following brothers and sisters: Michael Hess, of Bellefonte; Jonathan Hess, of Williamsport; Mrs. Lydia Stover and Harriet Stover, of Altoona and William Hess, of Philipsburg Funeral services will occur Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from her late home. Interment in New Cemetery.

—The condition of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is said to be more serious than has been reported.

—Hannah E Crisman, of Philipsburg has been granted a pension of $12 a month.

—J. G. Royer, has been appointed postmaster at Zion, Centre county.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

There are Hundreds of Bellefonte People Similarly Situated.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Bellefonte residents? After you have read the following quietly answer the question.

Mr. William Valence East Lamb street, Night watchman, says: "For 2 years or more off and on, I had trouble with my back and pains in the upper part of my spine accompanied by a disagreeable feeling in my head and acute lameness right over my kidneys. At first I thought it was my liver but later found it arose from the kidneys not acting properly. I read of the many cures that had been made in Bellefonte by Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at F. Potts Green's drug store. They stopped the annoyance from the kidneys and removed the lameness and aching in my back. They did me any amount of good and I do not hesitate to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

THE MOON'S CHANGES

THEY HAVE NO INFLUENCE WHATEVER UPON THE WEATHER.

Some Superstitions That Still Exist Upon the Subject—Moon Theories That Are Mere Survivals From a Past Credulity.

A belief prevails that the moon's phases and changes have a controlling influence over the weather, but so great an authority as Professor C. A. Young of Princeton has assured us that the moon has absolutely nothing to do with the weather.

Such a belief is in the strict sense of the word a superstition—"mere survival from a past credulity. It is quite certain that if there is any influence at all of the sort it is extremely slight, so slight that it cannot be demonstrated with certainty, although numerous investigations have been made expressly for the purpose of detecting it. We have never been able to ascertain, for instance, with certainty whether it is warmer or not or less cloudy or not at the time of the full moon. Different investigations have led to contradictory results.

"As to the supposed connection between 'changes of the moon' and changes of the weather, it should be enough to note that even within the United States the weather changes are not simultaneous (in Kansas and Maine, for instance), as they should be if they were due to the changing phases of the moon. Since, however, a change of the moon occurs every week, every weather change must necessarily occur within about three days and a half of a lunar change, and half of them ought to fall within about forty-five hours, even if perfectly independent. It requ[illegible] a very [illegible] in [illegible] the effectiveness of the moon's changes to make one forget a few of the weather changes that occur too far from the proper time. Coincidences enough can easily be found to justify a pre-existing belief."

From a very remote antiquity, in the twilight of natural astrology, a belief arose that changes in the weather were occasioned by the moon. That the belief still exists is clear to any one who is acquainted with current literature and common folklore. In fact, it must be admitted that even intelligent and well informed people have been known to accept the theory.

The idea that the weather is affected by the changes in the moon is still held with great vigor in England, and one of our proverbs is, "So many days old the moon is on Michaelmas day, so many floods after." If it rains on St. Swithin's day, we are told to expect rain for forty days after. An equally wise prediction is that if Christmas comes during a waxing moon we shall have a very good year, and the nearer to the moon the better, but if during a waning moon a hard year, and the nearer the end of the moon so much the worse.

Another belief is that the condition of the weather depends upon the day of the week on which the new moon chances to fall. New moon on Monday, or moon day, is everywhere held as a sign of good weather. Friday's new moon is much disliked, while Saturday is unlucky for the new and Sunday for the full moon.

In Scotland the farmers believe that a misty moon is a misfortune, and an agricultural maxim among them teaches that

> If the moon shows like a silver shield,
> You need not be afraid to reap your field,
> But if she rises haloed round
> Soon we'll tread on deluged ground.

Another weather guide connected with the moon is that to see "the old moon in the arms of the new moon" is reckoned a sign of fair weather, and so is the turning up of the horns of the new moon. In this position it is supposed to retain the water which is imagined to be in it and which would run out if the horns were turned down.

The country people in Scotland foretell the changes of the weather from the changes in the appearance of the new moon. If she "lies sair on her back," it is a sure sign of bad weather, or when her horns are pointed toward the zenith.

At Whitby when the moon is surrounded by a halo with watery clouds the seamen say that there will be a change in the weather, for the "moon dogs" are about. There is also a belief prevalent among sailors and seafaring men that when a large star or planet is seen near the moon or, as they express it, "a big star is dogging the moon," this is a certain sign of stormy weather.—Exchange.

Darkness of Ocean Depths.

How far does sunlight penetrate beneath the surface of the seas? has been asked many times, and now the camera has answered the question. By exposing the most sensitive photographic plates at various depths it has been ascertained with definiteness how much sunlight there is in the water each descending foot.

There is a point at which no action of light is found, and that point is 600 feet under the surface. Below that is absolute darkness, and the only way in which the most delicate plate can be effected in that black abyss is to send down an electric light with it.

A Display of Avarice.

On the occasion of giving a concert Mme. Sala engaged Paganini at a fee of [illegible] guineas, says the Golden Penny. The next day she repaired to the violinist's house and handed him the sum in gold, the sight of which filled the great player with such violent emotion that he plunged his fingers among the bright pieces, which he poured over his arms and hands as though they were water. Despite this display of avarice, however, he returned the fee to Mme. Sala.

A TIRED MUSICIAN.

How Strauss Once Snubbed a Russian Court Dignitary.

When Johann Strauss took his orchestra to Russia, he had some unusual experiences not generally vouchsafed to those who live outside an autocratic government.

One day he received the czarina's commands to play before her at her summer resort and was told, on arriving there, that he would have to rehearse his programme three times before the performance. He begged to know the reason for that, but no explanation was given him. These were her majesty's orders, and he could only comply. Still, his astonishment grew when he saw during the three rehearsals an empty court carriage drawn by a pair of horses slowly going back and forth in front of his orchestra.

Throughout the final performance the mysterious act was explained. The empress, having a sharp attack of gout, was obliged to recline in the carriage, her foot on a cushion, while the concert took place, and the object of rehearsal had been to accustom the horses to a full string band lest they should take fright and bolt with her.

At the end of the performance an exalted dignitary of the court bade Strauss follow him to a splendid grand piano, saying:

"Now be good enough to play me all the newest Vienna music."

Although he was pretty fatigued by his three rehearsals and state performance, Strauss thought it expedient to comply, but after he had played continuously for over an hour he stopped, saying, "I presume that will be sufficient?"

"I am not at all tired," coolly rejoined his excellency.

"But I am!" said Strauss and rose from the instrument.—Youth's Companion.

TO TALK OR NOT TO TALK?

Is Silence Golden or Is It Foolish and Unsocial?

Is the old figure of a "golden silence" being washed away in the flood of twentieth century volubility? And is it right that it should be so washed away? We do not know the answers to these questions. Perhaps you, gentle reader, know and will tell. We do know that there is a good deal more talk in the world than would have been considered strictly necessary by our forbears. If you don't believe this, go to the nearest library and ask to see the bound volumes of The Congressional Record. You might also take along a certificate of sanity in case the librarian became alarmed at the request.

The old timers used to tell the youth of the land to consider if what they were about to say were not only "true and tried," but also "necessary." The idea held for quite a time that it was as reprehensible to waste words as to dissipate wealth.

Our old friend Montaigne, however, had a tender place in his heart for the talker. He declared, "The most natural and fruitful exercise of the mind is conversation, and I find the use of it more sweet than any other action in life."

In some quarters members of the feminine sex are credited with an indorsement of Mr. Montaigne's sentiment.

Is it wise to talk much? Or is it foolish? Is silence golden? Or is it unsocial and therefore against civilization? What do you think?—New York Telegram.

A Wide Open Library.

Dr. Parker was asked how he managed to draw thousands to his City temple in London. He said, "You would understand if you read my library."

"Is it such a good one?" asked a listener.

"Oh, it's good, bad, indifferent, grand and squalid," answered the mighty talker. "It's everything. It's in underground trains and on buses, in aerated teashops, smart restaurants, at churches, stations, parties, receptions, meetings, jubilees and sickbeds; you find it in prisons and boudoirs. The fact is you can never get away from it. We call it 'human nature' for want of a better name. I study it. That's why I call it my library. Most men don't, you see. But that's why I'm listened to."

How She Helped a Young Man.

A druggist in Memphis was holding forth recently on the difficulties which beset a young man in his first struggle with the world. "I had a hard time when I first started in business for myself," he said, apropos of a remark made by one of his hearers. "The public has good intentions toward you, but it sometimes has strange ways of expressing them. An old lady used to come in to buy postage stamps. I observed to her one day that she was evidently a great letter writer. 'Oh,' she said sweetly, 'I don't really need all the stamps I buy here. It's only because I wish to help a young man like yourself, just beginning to build up a business, that I purchase them.'"—Kansas City Star.

A Pleasure of Memory.

Drolichon bought a phonograph and insisted upon his mother-in-law having her voice registered by the instrument.

As the good woman refused he added maliciously:

"Oh, come, now; just a few words. You can't think how much pleasure it will give me to hear your voice—when you are gone!"—Paris Figaro.

TOUGH BILL OF FARE

MESSES THAT ARE SERVED ON BOARD A "MEAN SHIP."

Queer Names the Sailors Give to the Unpalatable Food—Dog Chowder, By the Wind Soup, Topgallant Tea and Cow Jipper.

Some ships are known as "mean ships" by sailors on account of the food that is served to the forecastle. They are chiefly deep water sailing ships and tramp steamers. Of course what a sailor shall have to eat is provided for by law, but the law sometimes gets badly mixed up on blue water. The strange dishes served to sailors on "mean ships" are no stranger than the names the sailors give them. One of the commonest of "mean ship" dishes is "by the wind soup." This delicacy is composed of well polished mutton bones, stale meat trimmings, a handful of potato parings and scraps from the captain's table. The mixture is boiled vigorously for two hours, at the end of which time the result is hot water of a light brown color with floating islands of grease on its surface. A little hardtack is added, and there you have your "by the wind soup."

When a "mean ship" gets well out to sea, one of the first dishes to appear is "dog chowder." It is a sort of resurrection pudding, made of scraps that the cook does not dare to serve up as they are, but which he shreds finely or pounds in a mortar until all semblance of their original state is lost. The mass is well mixed with grease and served hot.

Grease plays an important part in all the "mean ship" dishes. Another standard item on the bill of fare of these ships is "topgallant tea." It is served to the [illegible]hes, and the recipe for [illegible] this. Three times [illegible] is made from fresh tea leaves [illegible]. The leaves are saved and mixed with the tea leaves from the captain's table. Brown sugar or molasses is added, and from the mixture is made a decoction which is served four days in the week and which the sailors call "topgallant tea."

"Cow jipper" is a common dish on all "mean ships." It is made by boiling beef bones for six or seven hours with all the scraps left over from former meals. The broth so obtained is well seasoned with salt and served out. Another dish is "jumping jenny," sometimes called "double belt pie," from the fact that the sailor has to take in a couple of holes in his belt after eating it in order to stay him until the next meal. It is the result of a week's leavings from the cabin table mixed with six or eight ship's biscuits and half an onion. It is not at all a nice dish, and a sailor with epicurean tastes always makes a row when the cook serves it.

On some of the "western ocean" tramps a dish is served known to the sailors as "hide stew," and the toughest old salt that ever was drunk on shore or mutinous at sea is subdued by it to a state of lamblike docility, for it is sure to double him up with indigestion and make him think of the hereafter. It is made from a collection of the skins of everything—pigs, potatoes, fowl (from the captain's table), bacon rind and well picked chicken legs. This is boiled for six hours and plenty of thick grease added.

The captain of a "mean ship" always says, of course, that his men are well fed and that they only growl and grumble because they are a bad, ungrateful lot of abandoned wretches. In proof of it he will tell you that he gives them plum duff twice a week. The duff he gives them is known to the sailors as "bowline duff." It is made from the scrapings of pudding cloths that once held the puddings consumed in port—when the captain gave his men real duff, so that they might not know that they had shipped on a "mean ship" and make a "pierhead jump" for liberty. These scrapings are made bulky with biscuit paste and flavored with cloves. "Bowline duff" is the least unpopular of all the dishes on the bill of fare of the "mean ship," and its actual cost is 2 cents for every three men.—Exchange.

The Spoiled Child.

Once upon a time a young kingfisher went to the father bird and asked for his fishing rod, that he might catch some choice trout he had seen in a nearby stream.

"No!" answered the stern parent.

The young bird went his way and in an hour returned dripping wet, saying that he had tried to catch the fish without a pole and had fallen into the water.

"There!" said the mother bird to the father. "I knew you would spoil the child if you spared the rod."

Moral.—The mother can always find a way to place blame on the father, no matter what happens.—New York Herald.

Working Up.

A good story, even when the same man continues to repeat it, has a tendency to grow, like a rolling snowball. An instance is here furnished:

"So our friend Bushler went to the top of Mont Blanc?" said one man to another.

"Not at all."

"But he said so."

"True. Two months ago, when he returned from Switzerland, he said he had been at the foot of Mont Blanc. Since then he has gradually lied himself to the top."

His Suspicion.

No Tick There.

"No doubt you see that I am one of the diffident men," observed the drummer, "one of the sort who don't compare watches with the town clock and tell everybody for a block around that the clock is seven minutes off. I was up in a Massachusetts town a few weeks ago, and I had to make a certain train or loss a thousand dollar order. I looked at my watch and in a furtive way compared it with the town clock. It looked to me as if there was a big difference between the two, but I decided to go by the clock. I went into three or four places, loafed around and was killing time when an acquaintance came along and said:

"'I thought you were going to make that 2:30 train?'

"'Yes, I am,' I replied.

"'When?'

"'This afternoon, of course.'

"'By what time?'

"'By your town clock. I've got half an hour yet.'

"'Oh, you have!' he laughed. 'Well, let me tell you that our clock hasn't been running for a week, and you have lost your train by an hour and a quarter.'"

A Unique Book.

A publishing firm which makes a specialty of expensive editions of standard authors has recently published an edition of the works of Dickens. The set is in thirty volumes and liberally illustrated and illumined. An eccentric buyer decided he would like to have a set composed of the proof sheets of the edition. These were, of course, much marked, corrected, noted and otherwise marred, but they were collected and bound in an exquisite binding and sent to the collector of original books. He paid $1,400 for the privilege of owning probably the most unique reprint of a set of Dickens' works in existence.—New York Times.

Where Danger Lies.

"I want to be famous," said the boy.

"Well, you'll have to be mighty careful," answered the father. "There are more people who make fools of themselves trying to be famous than in any other way."—Chicago Post.

The Pains of Kidney Disease

Warn You Against the Most Dreadfully Fatal of Disorders. You Can be Cured by Promptly Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Pain is nature's signal whereby she warns man of approaching danger. Few diseases are so dreadfully fatal as disorders of the kidneys and few are accompanied by more severe pains and discomforts.

One of the most common symptoms of kidney disease is the smarting, scalding sensation when passing water which is likely to come very frequently and at inconvenient times. Then there is the dull, heavy aching in the small of the back and down the limbs.

When these pains are accompanied by deposits in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours you may be sure that you are a victim of kidney disease and should not lose a single day in securing the world's greatest kidney cure—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Take one pill at a dose, and in a surprisingly short time you will be far on the road to recovery, for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and promptly on the kidneys, and are certain to prove of great benefit to any one suffering from irregularities of those organs.

Don't imagine that you are experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are almost as well known as his great Recipe Book, have made some of the most surprising cures of kidney disease on record and have come to be considered the only absolute cure for kidney disease.

Mr. J. Curtiss, a well known R. R. engineer, living at 191 Murry street, Binghamton, N. Y., writes:

"Soon after going on the road I began to be troubled by severe pains in my back accompanied by such terrible weakness that I was obliged to stop work for days at a time.

"Hearing of the good results obtained by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I gave them a trial. They helped me almost immediately, and now I can truthfully say that I am as well as any man, thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

HAVE TO GIVE UP.

ITS ALL OVER WHEN NERVOUS SICK HEADACHE COMES TO YOUNG OR OLD—EVERYTHING STOPS AND NOTHING GOES ON BUT THE NERVOUS SICK HEADACHES.

If anything will engender a disregard for even life itself it is continued or oft repeated attacks of nervous sick headache. You may be able to partially describe it but the English language fails to fully do it justice. Its misery so concentrated, so condensed, so prostrating that all else is enveloped in its meshes.

Mrs. John H. Beck, of No. 115 3rd St., North, Philipsburg, Pa., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are just fine. I used to suffer all the time with nervous sick headaches, terrible headaches that weakens one and makes one nervous and trembly. I was told of the Nerve Pills and got a box and the result was remarkable. The medicine stopped the headaches completely. A single box did this for me and I am only too glad to say so."

By calling at Krumrine's Drug Store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See [illegible] signature of A. W. [illegible] on every package.

Repairing
Neatly
Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

The Washington Humane Society.

The latest monthly report of the Washington Humane Society is rather interesting as showing what can be accomplished by such an organization in the brief period of thirty-one days in a city of three hundred thousand inhabitants. Among the results of its labors we find the death of one hundred and twenty-four cats. At first sight this may seem curious business for a humane society—killing cats—but when one remembers the numbers of miserable, half-starved, diseased feline creatures which crawl about the alleys of every city and town, it is plain that to put these cats out of their misery is not only merciful to them but a protection to healthy animals which are liable to contract disease from them.

Eighteen horses, unfit to work or to enjoy life, were also killed by agents of the society. Sixty-three animals unfit to work were relieved from labor. Two hundred and twenty-four cases of cruelty to animals, brought to the notice of the society, were remedied without prosecution, while the prosecutions amounted only to thirty-four, in all but three of which the prisoner was convicted. Among the cases of ill-treatment of animals of which the society took cognizance were six cases of cruel beating, two of overloading, twenty-three of driving when galled, and thirty-one of driving when lame.

The chief good accomplished by the society, however, is indirect rather than direct. For every man who is punished for cruel treatment of his horse or dog there are several who take warning by his example. There is usually a small crowd about when the arrests occur and every member of that crowd is forcibly impressed with the fact that it is no longer safe to misuse dumb animals. Moreover when the man is convicted and fined all his neighbors usually know about it, and not seldom the matter is brought to the attontion of his employer. The upshot of the whole matter is that gradually, but surely, the public is being educated in the right direction. Human beings are creatures of habit and precedent and a very little of either goes a long way.

Maple Sugar Will Be Scarce.

Maple syrup and maple sugar will be scarce this year. The prices at the opening of the season were slightly lower than last year's quotations, because it was predicted that this year's crop would be a large one, Contrary to expectations, the supply will be very small. Market prices in the cities have advanced from five to seven and a half per cent. For several months the United States consuls stationed at the leading cities of Europe have been making investigations with a view to learning whether there was any market in Europe for American maple syrup and sugar. In every case it was shown that the prices of the American products were too high.

COLON CAPTURED !

A Little War Cloud in State Of Columbia.

FIGHT LASTED THREE HOURS

Telegraph Wires Cut and a Rail Removed from the Railroad, Thus Interfering with Traffic Across the Isthmus.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The confirmation of the reported capture of Colon by the Columbian Liberals caused a decided commotion in the state and navy department yesterday. There were long conferences between Secretary Long and Admiral Crowninshield and between the admiral and the acting secretary of state, Dr. Hill. Later the two last named went over to the White House and saw President Roosevelt. This was the first time since 1885, when Admiral Jouett opened up transit across the isthmus of Panama, that communication had actually been stopped in such fashion as to seem to require the interference of the United States naval forces.

The first news of the trouble at Colon came from United States Consul General Gudger, at Panama. He telegraphed the state department that a considerable number of Liberals had taken passage on the railroad (he did not indicate where) and, arriving at a certain point, had cut the telegraph wires and taken up a rail, thus breaking communication.

Later there came a second message from Consul General Gudger, announcing that Colon had been taken. This was confirmed more explicitly than United States Consul Manmrose designed yesterday.

LIFE AND PROPERTY ARE SAFE.

While all business is suspended, transit is not interrupted and American life and property are safe and not likely to be in danger.

Taken altogether these dispatches were regarded by the officials here as indicating a lack of purposes on the part of the Liberals to interfere with transit across the isthmus. It was felt that the brief interruptions caused by the taking up of the rails and the cutting of the telegraphic wires was nothing more than a temporary device to prevent the government from hurrying reinforcements by rail to Colon. The officials find support for this belief in the fact that communication was reopened across the isthmus the moment Colon was captured.

Still, as a result of the consultation yesterday, it was resolved to take no chances of an infringement of the treaty rights of the United States. Therefore Secretary Hill cabled Consul General Gudger a direction to notify all parties who are engaged in molesting or interfering with free transit across the isthmus that such interferences must cease. He was also directed to consult freely with Captain Perry, the commander of the United States battleship Iowa, now lying at Panama.

Then Captain Perry was cabled by Secretary Long to land marines, if necessary, for the protection of free transit acros the isthmus, in accordance with the treaty rights and obligations of the United States. At the same time Captain Perry was enjoined to avoid bloodshed, if possible. Meanwhile news came that Captain McCrea of the Machias, which is now lying at Colon, had anticipated this instruction from the navy department by landing a force of blue jackets at Colon and occupying the railroad station. The understanding at the navy department was that the landing party consisted of about 100 sailors, who are employed in lieu of marines, of whom the Machias has an insignificant force.

The text of Commander McCrea's dispatch is as follows:

"U. S. S. MACHIAS, COLON, Nov. 20.
"Secretary Navy, Washington:

"The insurgents have possession of the city. At the request of the proper authorities, I have landed force for the protection of the property of the railroad.

[Signed] "McCREA."

A cablegram received from Captain Perry at Panama confirms what Consul General Gudger communicated to the state department yesterday. It does not appear that Captain Perry has yet landed a force.

EYES SPEAK

Volumes, at times, of woman's happiness or misery. The dull, sunken eye, with its dark circles almost surely speaks of womanly ill-health, and its attendant suffering. With the dull eye goes usually the sallow, sunken cheek, the drawn mouth, the shrunken form—the whole glory of woman's beauty marred by the effects of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which undermine the health and mar the beauty of women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free, and so obtain the advice of a specialist upon their disease. All correspondence is strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"With pleasure I send a few lines to let you know that I feel much better than for eight years before taking your medicine," writes Mrs. Pierce Geise, of 823 West Phila. Street, York, Pa. "Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to every person who may inquire as to what it has done for me. I was troubled with female weakness, and began to think I would never be well. If I had continued the treatment prescribed by my doctor I don't know what would have become of me. When your treatment was commenced my weight was 108 pounds, at present it is 130. Have healthy color and my friends say I look well. My best thanks to you and my best wishes, too, for what you have done for me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

President Opposed to the Chinese.

WASHINGTON, November 21.—President Roosevelt in his message to congress will not only recommend the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act, but will go farther and recommend that it be strengthened to increase its efficiency. The president gave this information Wednesday to Representative Needham of California, who talked with him upon the subject. An anti-Chinese convention composed of business organizations of California, meets in San Francisco to-day to take action looking to the re-enactment of the exclusion law and as an ex-officio member of that convention, Mr. Needham desired to ancertain the president's views. He was very much gratified when he learned that the recommendation for the re-enactment of the exclusion law was already in the message. The president told other western callers Wednesday that he would call the attention of congress in his message to the advisability of doing something to reclaim the great arid regions of the west.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found it's equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at F. Potts Greens Drug Store. Trial bottles free.

No Excuse for Adulteration.

The superior court has affirmed the verdict of a Philadelphia lower court finding John W. Kevin guilty of violating the pure food law. Kevin was indicted selling adulterated raspberry syrup. It was urged in his behalf that the syrup he sold was a well known manufactured article of Massachusetts and contained but a slight quantity of salacylic acid as a preservative. It was in evidence that the syrup had been made of raspberries and that the presence of acid in it was necessary to keep it in proper condition. The district attorney contended that any ingredient which was injurious to health could not be used even as a preservative and in quantities that were not harmful under the food law. Judge Stevenson sustained this view and the jury found Kevin guilty.

FORTIFYING PANAMA,

Colombian Government is Busy Erecting Breastworks.

LIBERALS EXPECTED TO ATTACK

United States Officials Hold a Conference With Those of Colombia and Call Attention to What the Latter Should Do.

FRANCE AN INTERESTED SPECTATOR

COLON, Colombia, November 22.—The government at Panama is still busy erecting breastworks in the vicinity of the railroad property, in the direction of which the liberal attack is expected.

The mayor of Panama started in a launch belonging to the canal company Wednesday morning to report the state of affairs to General Alban. Since the mayor's return to Panama it has been rumored that he found the general at Chorrera, and that he decided to take his forces back to Panama by land and reinforce the garrison there. Certain sources of information have it that the canal company's largest launch was loaned to the goverment last Sunday to convey General Alban and troops toward Chorrera, and that it was sunk on Tuesday near Taboga.

The political prisoners at Panama have been removed from their usual prison to a safer place of confinement at the further end of Panama.

United States Counsel General Gudger, Captain Perry, of the battleship Iowa, and the secretaries of the government held a conference at Panama Wednesday. The latter claimed that the conductors of the trains should not have allowed armed liberals to embark on the train at Last Cascades. Captain Perry replied that the government should protect free transit on the isthmus and ought to have prevented the embarkation of the liberals. Subsequently a letter was sent to the Colombian officials with reference to future action. It is not improbable that the Iowa will shortly land a force to protect transit.

1,000,000 Railroaders.

The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. It shows that railway employes in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000 000 people with possibly nearly 5,000 000 people dependent upon the wages paid by railroads. The report says that for years to come the railroads will absorb an increasing number of employes.

The majority of the roads, the report says, are developing a system of discipline by which they avoid suspensions and encourage loyal, personal service and thus promote better relations between employes and employed. A general tendency manifest on the part of the roads to exercise greater care in the maintenance of their labor force and in its improvement is noted.

The report urges some legislative limitation of the fellow servant principle or doctrine of common employment.

P. R. R. Baggage.

The Pennsylvania railroad company has handled about one-third more baggage this year than it did in the same time in 1900. This has been the heaviest year the baggage department has ever experienced. In 1900 there was over 10,000,000 pieces of baggage handled and this year it is believed the number will be fully one third more.

Training Deer to Haul a Truck.

A report comes from Beech Creek to the effect that a man named Setter Heverly is training two deers to pull a small truck. The man captured the animals alive and is employed at the clay mines of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick company. He now has them tied to a truck which is used to transport the clay, and hopes to train them so that he will be able to drive them.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

NOVEMBER COURT NOTES.

Reported by W. Harrison Walker. Esq.

The regular November term of court convened Monday morning at 9:30 with Hon. John G. Love, president judge on the bench, and Prothonotary Gardner and Register Archey in their usual places. Mr. Burrows, of Sunbury, Pa., the official stenographer was also in attendance.

The forenoon session was consumed in the presentation of motions and petitions by the several members of the bar.

J. Victor Royer, for more than two years a student in the law offices of Fortney & Walker, was, on motion of Mr. C. M. Bower, president of the Board of Examiners, admitted to practice law in the several courts of Centre county, and was heartily congratulated by the members of the bar. Mr. Royer is a native of Centre county, coming from an old and well established family of that name in Penns Valley. As a student he was earnest, careful and painstaking. His industry knew no bounds and his capacity to hang on was measured only by what he could stand physically. When Mr. Royer entered upon the study of law he did so with the full determination to succeed and in the very excellent and thorough examination he passed his determination was realized to the satisfaction of himself, and the gratification of his host of friends. He is a young man of fine character, possessing the highest qualities of a clear, strong, well grounded Christian character. This paper joins Mr. Royer's friends in extending congratulations and bespeaks for him a full share of legal business.

The Court then appointed Mr. S. B. Rowe, of Philipsburg, foreman of the Grand Jury, after which the usual instructive charge was delivered to the Grand Jury and they then retired to their room to consider the bills of indictment that would be laid before them by the District Attorney.

The constables of the several boroughs and townships then made their regular returns to the court of Quarter Sessions.

W. E. Brown was appointed guardian for the minor children of Agustus Sherwood Fetzer of Boggs township.

The first case called was that of Commonwealth vs. Geo. L. Spangler, who was indicted for selling liquor without license and to minors. He entered his plea of guilty and waived the finding of the grand jury. His counsel then presented a petition which was signed by a large number of substantial citizens of Liberty township setting forth the fact that they thought that justice had been meted out to this defendant by his arrest, and that he had stopped the illegal practice for which he was indicted and asked that the court suspend sentence. The court took up the matter and when court convened at 2 in the afternoon he disposed of the case, suspending sentence for the present and directing the defendant to pay the costs, as well as stating that in the event of his resumption of this illegal dealing out of intoxicants he would be called up and given the full penalty of the law.

The first case on the civil list for the week, James Nolan vs. Rosa Pierce, being an appeal from the judgment rendered by a justice of the peace and from which an appeal was taken, was continued.

The case of H. M. Dunning vs. Ann W. Beddle, appeal, plea "non assumpsit," was settled by the parties in interest.

The case of Mary S. Thomas vs. Thos. Butler and Burdine Butler was continued on the ground that one of the defendants had the pneumonia and could not be in attendance upon the trial of the case.

Terms of settlement were agreed upon in the case of O. Perry Jones use of Kate A. Miller vs. Jane Gowland.

The first case tried was that of Commonwealth vs. Harry Bottorf who was charged by his wife, Mrs. Bottorf, with assault and battery, and aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill. After the defendant entered his plea of "not guilty" on the bill of indictment the District Attorney opened the case to the jury. It appeared from the evidence in the cause that on Saturday, the 16th inst., the defendant drove to Snow Shoe and that it was about 6 o'clock in the evening he returned; that Mrs. Bottorf heard him coming in the lane and that she supposed he was drunk; that she went to meet him and found that he was in a drunken stupor and that she led him to their home which is above Runville a short distance; that when they got to their home Bottorf assaulted her, choked her and fired two shots at her with a revolver; that he also pulled a lot of hair out of her head. The defendant testified to the fact that he didn't remember a single thing that had taken place that night as he was so drunk that he knew nothing. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty on the first count, being assault and battery.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Commonwealth vs. Thos. Holt who was indicted by his wife, Clara Holt and Sarah Spicer for assault and battery. He was directed to pay the costs or arrange the same.

The Court suspended sentence in the case of Commonwealth vs Walter Cathcart who entered his plea of guilty to the charge of assault and battery. He was directed to pay the costs between this and January Term of Court.

In the case of Commonwealth vs John Erb who was indicted for assault and battery upon the person of Jake Herman; the grand jury ignored the bill and placed the costs of prosecution upon the prosecutor.

Mr. Daggett's appearance testifies to a marked improvement in his condition and an increase in avoirdupois. There is now no question of his complete return to his former good health and his many friends are overjoyed with the knowledge that he will soon be himself again.

Death Claims a Bright Young Man.

On Sunday evening at ten o'clock the life of William C. Schuyler, son of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Schuyler, of Centre Hall, ended. The young man has been suffering since last July from a complication of diseases, and it was thought advisable to bring him to Bellefonte, which they did on the 16th of November, and placed him under the care of Dr. Robert G. H. Hayes. An operations was performed on the young man on the 18th of this month.

William C. Schuyler was born in Lewistown May 11, 1880, and died at this place November 24, 1901, which makes his age 21 years, 6 months and 13 days. He had just finished a most successful sophomore term at Hamilton college, at Clinton, N. Y. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall and was highly respected by all who knew him.

He is survived by his father, Rev. Wm. Henry Schuyler, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall, and his mother and one sister, Miss Eloise, who is teaching school at Pennsylvania Furnace.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at Centre Hall.

Garman—Campbell.

A quiet but pretty wedding was that of Miss Sabra Campbell and Mr. Bruce Garman which occurred at their newly furnished home on south Spring street, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. George Israel Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal church officiating. No guests were present except the members of the families of the contracting parties. The bride one of Bellefonte's prettiest young women, was becoming gowned in white Paris muslin. A delicious supper was served after the ceremony and during the evening there were numerous calls upon the newly wedded couple by their friends with hearty good wishes and congratulations. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell of this place. The groom a son of Daniel Garman and is associated with his brother C. M. Garman in the management of the Garman House, one of the oldest and most popular hostelries in Centre county. The young couple were the recipients of a number of handsome presents.

Jumped From Train Fell Through Bridge.

Jack Wetzler, of Milesburg, boarded the local freight at Milesburg Friday afternoon to come to Bellefonte. For some reason he attempted to get off the train as it neared the railroad bridge crossing the Bald Eagle this side of Milesburg but the car upon which he was riding reached the bridge before Wetzler alighted and he dropped on the bridge through the ties and into the creek a distance of about ten feet.

He was removed to his home and is receiving medical attention.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S BLAZE.

Dwelling House Occupied by Mrs. Bickle Damaged by Fire.

Tuesday evening about half-past seven o'clock flames were discovered issuing from the roof of the dwelling house on North Thomas street occupied by Mrs. Rebecca Bickle. The alarm was at once sounded and both the Logan and Undine fire companies were soon on the scene. The fire was a very difficult one to fight owing to the wind which prevailed and to the close proximity of other frame dwellings. In fact it seemed for awhile that the fire would surely spread along Thomas street in both directions.

The family of Christ Young whose home adjoins Bickle's removed everything from their house and other families in this neighborhood had their goods in shape to move out quickly. Fortunately, however, it was unnecessary as the firemen by hard work succeeded in confining the flames to the Bickle house, the roof of which was burned off and the third floor badly damaged. The house was also completely drenched with water.

The house is owned by John Pacini. In the basement there was a store room occupied by James Stine, the blind man, who keeps a small grocery, and the balance of the house was occupied by Mrs. Rebecca Bickle as a boarding house.

Some of Mrs. Bickle's boarders were at supper when the fire broke out and they proceeded to carry out what articles of furniture, etc., as they could, but the most of it remained in the house and was badly damaged by fire, water and smoke.

Mrs. Bickle's loss will be between three and five hundred dollars, covered by an $800 policy in the agency of Grant Hoover.

John Pacini has the house insured for $800 in the agency of George L. Potter. His loss is about $450.

Mr. Stine succeeded in removing his goods from the store room so that his loss is small.

The fire is believed to have originated from a defective flue,
